

A Worthless Dead Tree?

Not if you are one of hundreds of different organisms from true bugs and beetles to bats and birds that use a standing dead tree (a “snag”) for food, nesting, shelter and as a lookout for hunting, like this Red-Shouldered Hawk (Buteo lineatus).